5.1.6 The institution has a transparent mechanism for timely redressal of student grievances including sexual harassment and ragging cases

राष्ट्रपति
भारत गणतंत्र
PRESIDENT
REPUBLIC OF INDIA

06/RB/2009

25 June, 2009.

Dear Shri Jamirji,

As you are aware, repeated incidents have occurred which indicate that the perverse practice of ragging has not only become rampant in our educational institutions but acquired hideous proportions costing the sanity and life of some of the students. What is more worrisome is the persistent spread of this scourge both across a range of educational institutions as also across the length and breadth of our country. Such disorderly, aggressive and inhuman conduct on the part of senior students inflicting physical cruelty and mental torment on the freshers has outraged the society at large.

2. In the very recent past, I had publicly urged all concerned to join hands in eliminating the practice of ragging. Your knowledge, wisdom, experience and exhortation can help in no lesser measure in galvanizing the society towards wiping out this unseemly blot from our educational landscape.

3. It is heartening to note that the Supreme Court has already taken a strong stand against ragging. Moreover, rules and regulations to prevent ragging including laws have already been enacted at various levels or are in the pipeline. You may also consider such legislation, if it does not exist in your State. There is also a need to examine if there are gaps or inadequacies in the regulatory structure so as to build a credible architecture of legal deterrence. What is required is constant supervision by the university and college authorities and the related agencies of the government to maintain constant vigil and to strictly enforce the legal and penal provisions to drive home the message that the practice of ragging will not be tolerated any longer from vitiating the educational atmosphere.

4. While it is the primary responsibility of the management of educational institutions and the teachers to prevent ragging, it would make eminent sense if the parents and guardians are mobilized to counsel their wards to behave more responsibly and be supportive in their dealings with their juniors. Also enlisting the cooperation of NGOs active in this field can help foster a climate of awareness against ragging and in alleviating the trauma of the victims.

5.1.6 The institution has a transparent mechanism for timely redressal of student grievances including sexual harassment and ragging cases

5 As the new academic calendar is about to commence soon, time has come when all the stakeholders in the realm of education and civil society need to seriously ponder and put their act together to prevent the menace of ragging. Your sagacious counsel and guidance to all stakeholders will go a long way in furthering this cause.

With regards,

Yours sincerely,
