Scope of the Project:

Cloudmito is both an iOS and Android application as well as a web-based application. It focuses on minimization of paper work that needs to be submitted while getting a new postpaid connection from mobile telcos.

While getting a new postpaid connection, the user has to fill up a form and submit the IDs, requested by the telco. Manually filling up a form can take up a long time and might be tedious as well.

Thus to tackle this problem, Vodlo has come up with Cloudmito. As stated earlier, Cloudmito is available for both iOS and Android and can be controlled through its web-based application as well.

Whenever a customer comes into a store to get a new connection, he'll need to complete an online registration form in which he needs to mention the carrier, selected plan, add-ons, mobile model type and so on. After the registration form is filled, the customer needs to submit the mentioned IDs. The IDs will be scanned by the store attendant and attached along to his form.

This registered form is called as contract and contract will be in processing state while the IDs are verified. Once the IDs are verified, the contract will be in completed state and customer will be allocated his mobile number, the carrier selected along with the data plan and handset requested.
